

Consulting

Business Insight

Portford Solutions provides a range of business and technical services that help with successful planning, implementation, and support of content management systems. Portford specializes in:

- Electronic Content Capture
- Information Management
- Image and Document Management
- Web Content Management
- Electronic Forms Management
- Business Application Integration
- Business Process Automation (Workflow)

Trusted Experience

The seasoned consulting teams at Portford are comprised of cross-functional experts with experience in a variety of industries. These professionals understand that content management is more than hardware and software; a successful deployment requires a detailed understanding of each client's unique business processes. To accomplish this Portford offers a collection of on-site and outsourced services to help increase productivity, reduce costs, and conform to ever-changing regulations.

Innovative Approach

Years of consulting experience led to Portford's development of an implementation methodology called Idea to Implementation (i2i). This process promotes the highest possible return on project investments.

- i2i affords client teams the business and technical tools to guide content management engagements.
- i2i provides a high-quality, consistent direction that is ideal for regulated environments.
- i2i ensures that strategic objectives are met according to the initial plan design.

Unlocking Information

Technology products evolve so rapidly that the underlying business platforms are constantly shifting. As document management plays a larger role in business more than one software component may be required.

The challenges of providing a completely integrated environment can be met by the consulting team at Portford Solutions. Better management begins with better content management.
